VERNONIA MILL NOW RUNNING

Plant Expected to Turn Out 600,000
Feet of Lumber in Two Eight Hour Shifts

The Oregon-American Lumber Co. mill at Vernonia, which started operations a week ago, is now operating at full capacity. About 400 men will be required for a single shift and the second shift will be employed as soon as market conditions justify, according to E. E. Hayes, superintendent of the plant. All lumber will be kiln-dried except the large timbers which will be sent direct from the mill to the yards.

The Vernonia mill is expected to turn out 600,000 feet of lumber daily working two 8-hour shifts. It was built with the idea of embodying the most modern and efficient equipment and construction for lumber manufacture, and is the only sawmill in the northwest built of steel and concrete. An interesting feature of the mill's equipment is known as a "shot-gun feed". The carriage in a sawmill which moves the logs into the saws is ordinarily moved by cables wound on drums. In this mill the carriage is mounted on a steam piston, which makes for speedy operation.

The Oregon-American Lumber Co. was started by the Eccles interests, whose holdings in that vicinity were purchased about three years ago by the Central Coal & Coke Co. of Kansas City.

All the company's timber is situated about 13 miles from Vernonia on the head waters of Rock Creek.—Rainier Review.

WILKERSON FAMILY RETURNS TO OREGON

Prof. J. B. Wilkerson, Mrs. Wilkerson and sons, Buford and Benjamin returned to St. Helens Monday after noon after an absence of more than a year. The family left St. Helens in April of last year and motored to Houston, Texas and Professor Wilkerson was principal of the Spring, Texas, high school. The family left Texas the latter part of April and motored to Louisville, Kentucky. They visited relatives there and at Terre Haute, Indiana, leaving the latter place June 28. They stopped at Chicago for a day and also at Minneapolis. They followed the Yellowstone Trail and stopped for three days at Yellowstone National Park. The motor trip of 2700 miles was an enjoyable one, the professor stated and they experienced good weather which made camping out enjoyable. The family left for Vernonia Wednesday afternoon after having a two day visit with friends here. Professor Wilkerson has been elected principal of the Union High School in Vernonia and will take up his work there in the near future. The family are glad to get back to Oregon and their many friends throughout the country.—St. Helens Mail.

PACK OF MAINTENANCE INCREASES PAVING

Albany, Oregon, has boasted of being one of the best, if not the best paved little city on the Pacific Coast. Little argument would have to be presented to a traveler over its streets to convince him that the claim is not exaggerated.

In pursuance of its paving policy it has recently awarded a $32,000 contract for 8-inch asphaltic concrete on additional streets.

While there is nothing unusual about this contract, the uniform policy which the city has carried out is worth nothing as practically all of its streets have been paved with this form of material and the maintenance cost for the same has been nothing over a period of 12 years.

It is stated that it is lack of maintenance cost that induced the city to go on with its program even though it could have laid other types of pavement for slightly less money.

An authority on the lumber industry says that no living man will see the output fall below 20,000,000,000,000 feet annually.

He predicts that the units of lumber production will become somewhat smaller in time if the example of Europe is a precedent for us, but says that the total volume of production, the capital invested and the number of employees will always rank high among our industries.

"Historically," says Wilson Compton, secretary and manager of the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, "lumber manufacturing has been the characteristic American manufacturing industry. The axe and the saw were carried by the pioneer, historian and F. J. Brewster chaplin. Entertainment and publicity committee were also appointed.

Plans are being rapidly laid for a club house, to be owned by the local post. A membership drive is now on, the post is expected to double its personnel. The meetings are to be each second and forth Monday of the month at Carkin's Taylor Shop at 8 o'clock.

OUR TEMPERATURE

Writing to friends back East one desires to keep strictly within the truth while praising our most praiseworthy climate. Here are a few facts that might be cut out and pasted in the letter book. They are vouches for by Edward L. Wells, meteorologist of the United States weather bureau of Portland, and they relate to the weather as observed in this city.

In the ordinary year there are thirty-one days in which the temperature falls below freezing, but on only four of these days does it remain below freezing all day. In the ordinary year there are but five days with a maximum temperature above 90 degrees.

Cold waves seldom occur here. Shakes come gradually, taking several days to reach the lowest point. January is the coldest month with a normal temperature of 39.4 degrees; while July and August have a normal of 67.7 degrees. The normal change from one day to the next is 3.2 degrees, being fairly constant throughout the year.

The average date of the last killing frost in spring is March 10 and the latest of record was May 2, 1878. The average date of the first killing frost in fall is November 21; and the earliest of record was October 18, 1881. But the real growing season is not limited by these dates, for in some winters grass and shrubs and some hardy flowers grow continuously.

If one were planning his own climate he could hardly better the temperature record of Oregon.

NOT AT PRESENT

Vernonia does not need any new grocery stores at present; neither does Vernonia need any more meat markets, dry goods stores, shop or men's furnishings; no more garages or real estate offices or pool rooms or confectioneries. No we don't need any more printing offices, restaurants, or blacksmiths or drug stores. For the present time Vernonia is very well supplied with the various lines mentioned, at least, to another man's wife. The women were not arrested.

REMEMBER THIS

If you work for a man, in Heaven's name work for him. If he pays you wages which supply your bread and butter, work for him! Speak well of him! Stand by him and stand by the institution he represents! If put to a pinch, an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. If you must vilify, condemn, and eternally disparage—resign your position, and when you are outside, damage to your heart's content. But as long as you are part of the institution, do not condemn it. If you do that you are loosening the tendons that are holding you to the institution, and at the first high wind that comes along you will be uprooted and blown away, and probably you will never know the reason why.—Elbert Hubbard.

Will Keep Pond Full of Logs as a Reserve in Case Camps Are Forced to Close Down

The Oregon-American Lumber company will at this place which started operations here a week ago, is now ready to run at full capacity. About 400 men will be required for a single shift and the second shift will be employed as the market conditions will justify, according to E. Hayes, superintendent of the plant.

All of the lumber will be dry-kiln except the large timbers which will be sent direct from the mill to the yards. The sawdust conveyor which are all pneumatically driven will soon be installed and will convey the shavings and sawdust from the battery of electrically driven planers to the refuse burner which is 100 feet in diameter and over 200 feet in height. Some of the conveyor tubes are large enough for a man to stand in and are 1000 feet in length.

Three of the largest types of edgers known are required to handle the lumber from the head rig. After the lumber comes from the dry-kilns it is conveyed by means of monorails to the dry sheds which cover more than 17 acres of ground. Concrete runs have been recently laid in these sheds for stacking the lumber prior to shipment. The pond which is 45 acres in extent is now full of logs ready for the saws and according to a conservative estimate will last two months.

The O.-A. Lumber company will resume operations this week and employ half as many men as the mill. According to plans it is the purpose of the company to keep a large reserve of logs in the pond as a reserve supply to be used in case of fire or snows stopping operations in the camps.

All of the timber of the company is situated about 13 miles from Vernonia on the head waters of Rock Creek and at an altitude where snow is not likely to impede winter operations for a short period. The lath mill which will handle much of the by-products of the mill, will begin operations this week and employ a number of men.

GREEK QUOTA IS CUT TO 100

One hundred Greeks may come into the United States every year under the quotas established by the new immigration law.

Under the last quota the number admissible was 300, according to figures given by Chief Immigration Inspector R. P. Bonham.

Other reductions nearly as drastic are contained in the official list of immigration quotas received by Bonham Monday from Washington, D. C.

Italian immigration is restricted to 3845 this year. In 1914 Italians coming to this country numbered 280,000. Under the last quota 40,000 were admitted.

Immigrants from Great Britain and Northern Ireland will be cut down to 34,000 this year. Twenty-eight thousand, five hundred may enter from the Irish Free State.

Germans to the number of 51,227 may enter in 1924.

The Turkish empire received a list somewhat similar to that administered Greeks. Only 100 may enter.

Canadians do not come under the quota restriction.

Mr. August Rhode of Ill., is visiting his brother Mr. Geo. Rhode here this week.

If the Saturday night crowds in Vernonia get any larger our streets will not be able to handle the traffic. Our city will be compelled to install "one way traffic" like Portland, or make the machines park on the side streets.

SHERIFF DECLARES WAR ON PETTING PARTIES

EUGENE, Ore., July 22.—Petting parties in automobiles along the highways of Lane county are going to stop, declares Sheriff Frank E. Taylor, and accordingly two men were fined $100 each late Monday afternoon for just such an offense, when haled before Justice G. Wells.

They were taken near this city, in company with a single girl and another man's wife. The women were not arrested.

The good business man does not watch the future to the neglect of the present; nor does he think so much about today that he makes no provisions for tomorrow. The wise man balances his accounts with life each day and keeps an eye and a few dollars for the future. And he gets out of hoarding. Any man in Vernonia who is making as little as $15 a week is happier than Stinnes ever was with his millions, and a man who has friends to smile and speak to is richer than the miser whose lonely body rests in a grave that was never wet by tears.

Prosperity doesn't lie in the possession of money. To the man who regulates his life properly every dollar that is saved stands for some pleasure that he will later on derive from it in his own behalf or that of his family and friends. Just why a man who calls himself a good business man should endure privations and rob himself of luxuries and comforts he really deserves is past understanding. Possibly in his greed for more dollars he has really forgotten about the comforts they will buy.

The good business man does not watch the future to the neglect of the present; nor does he think so much about today that he makes no provisions for tomorrow. The wise man balances his accounts with life each day and keeps an eye and a few dollars for the future. And he knows that there isn't going to be any pockets in his shroud.

The City Council has been worried with big jobs of late, including crowds of citizens with many ideas to spring and talk of "How it should be done." To date the main business has been the sewer system.

This job has been rushed as fast as possible in accordance with the legal way of handling it. The job is now ready to go to the contractors and dirt will be flying in a very few days. Our main street must be paved; it is absolutely necessary and very important that the work be done before winter. Various ways have been suggested and tried, but the plan now adopted is to have the city vacate the street to the city with the exception of the Rock Creek bridge, and the city declare an immediate cutting of the pavement and paving under the Bancroft act from Rose Avenue south of Bridge, also First and Second avenues, with some sidewalks. These improvements have to be made and the council is handling it the only way possible. The Purification plant is nearly finished. this issue of the Eagle.

A CREAMERY AND ICE CREAM FACTORY WANTED

Milk is scarce. More cows are needed. Then each dairy should bring their milk to Vernonia in cans to a central distributing point or creamery. A receiving station, combination ice factory, ice cream plant and creamery would be the best proposition for the valley right now. Sum one will do it.

EVERYBODY READS IT

The circulation of the Eagle is all desired from an advertiser's standpoint. We are glad that as fast as newsmen locate in our city they subscribe for their home paper. Naturally there are some that haven't yet placed their name on our list, but it covers the community 90 per cent. We try to give a good paper and are glad to see the readers just growing every day.

BIG SHINGLE MILL MIGHT BE A WINNER

With the various camps around Vernonia cutting only fir timber, and lots of cedar in the territory, the proper people could make a winning by putting an immense shingle mill at Vernonia, the central point for every direction. A cedar chest factory, a chair factory and wood products factory, for that matter, will pay in Vernonia if conducted properly.

EDITORIAL

It is all true. The wonderful tales of the Oregon Country. The Portland Chamber of Commerce tells of this with the thought that "Land of Opportunity anew in a couple late pamphlets received this week. One "Portland and the Wonderful Oregon Country" and one on "Fishing, Golfing and Hunting in Oregon." They are illustrated with photographic views of various scenes in the state and the reading and pictures are true to conditions. But, of course, always something to find fault with; and this time it is the fact that they have left out the most scenic views and not a word about the wonderful Nehalem Valley or the Inland Highway, prettiest drive in the state, the Vernonia Industrial City, the big Vernonia timber or mill, or the fishing around Vernonia—in fact Vernonia was not shown on their map. Don't let this occur again, gentlemen, as here is the Big Oregon Opportunity, in the fastest growing city in the state.

Mid-summer Clearance Sales being advertised extensively reminds one that the Autom Days will soon be upon us. It also reminds us that one should read the Clearance Sale ads in their home paper and not go to the city or send to the mail order houses for your supply. You can do better at home in more ways than one.

The Inland Highway is considered, over the state, as the most important road work now before the people. The Columbia River Highway will stand no more traffic, and a new and shorter route between Portland and Astoria is offered in the Inland Highway. The logical route to relieve the congestion.

Water under Pressure

The new, low-priced Fairbanks-Morse Home Water Plant supplies water under pressure from cistern or well for only a few cents a week. It attaches to any electric circuit. The operation is entirely automatic—self-priming, self-oiling, self-starting. You have water under pressure all of the time.

Water under pressure increases returns from livestock and land. You get bigger gains with less feed—milk yield is increased—the garden crop is safe from drought. You have real fire protection.

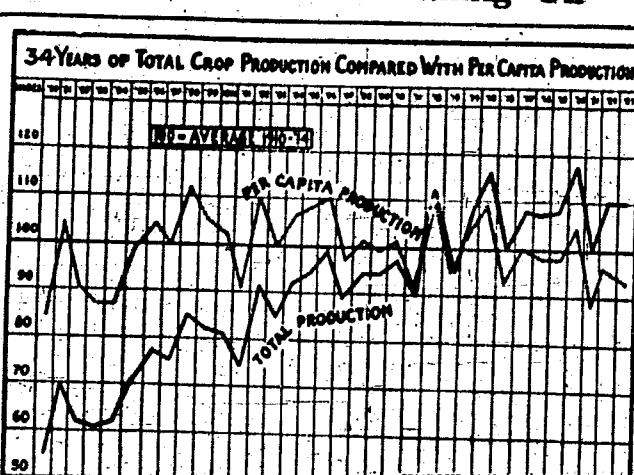

Water under pressure lightens housework and outdoor chores. The most disagreeable, the heaviest household tasks—washing, laundry, scrubbing—are easily and quickly done. And the fresh water attachment gives you fresh water from the faucet, any time.

Call us up and have us submit an estimate on a Fairbanks-Morse plant for you. There is a size for every need. They operate with electricity, kerosene, or gasoline. Better yet, come in and let us show you a plant in operation.

Farm Production Falling Off

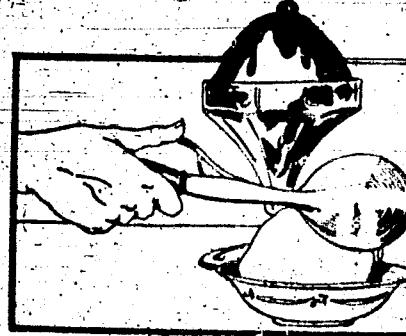

Population is gaining on crop production, according to a study made over a period of thirty-four years by the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation, based on figures of the United States Department of Agriculture. The accompanying chart shows crop production per capita is falling.

Taking the average of 1910 as 100, total crop production in the last three years averaged 108.8. Owing to the growth of population, per capita production has been only 92.8 when 100 represents the 1910-1914 average.

The chart shows index numbers of both total and per capita production of crops from 1900 to 1923. The production record is based on the total yield of 10 crops—corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, potato, hay, tobacco and cotton, which include more than 95 per cent of the total acreage of all crops. Since yields are expressed in various units, bushels, bales, tons and pounds, the crops are combined by applying a constant average price to the yearly production of each crop.

Evidently production, consumption and feed prices all play an important part in regulating butter prices in a tariff-protected market like the United States. The cost of feed may regulate in the long run, but over periods of a year or two it has little to do with the minor rises of butter.

"OREGON FIRST THEN PORTLAND"

A Few Facts Regarding the State $300,000.00 Publicity Fund

The State of Oregon has been unique among the 48 of the United States during the past year, in having a Godfather.

Portland assumed the position of "Godfather" because it really wanted to make an effort to increase the population and the prosperity of Oregon. There may be some who will attribute selfish motives, but those of us who have mixed freely with the business men who have provided the funds, know that their first consideration was the well-being of the state and a sincere desire to help every community in the state, to improve its own prospects, to secure more settlers, more industries and more business enterprises, for its own good.

Of course Portland expected, if these results were obtained that naturally there would be more business for Portland—not exclusively so, but for everybody, and Portland would receive its fair share.

The first half of the three hundred thousand dollar fund has been spent. In the experience of the whole Pacific Coast there has never been a more sincere purpose behind any body of men in the expenditure of a community development fund, nor has there ever been a so well co-ordinated and complete a plan.

It embraced four main activities: Better marketing conditions for the farmer, land settlement, and illustrated lecture tour by Frank Branch Riley, and national publicity through magazines, newspapers and special articles. In all of these activities the campaign has been successful and on a broad state-wide scope.

For instance, the efforts of the marketing committee, which has been to bring the growers of various products of the field and farm closer together, and have them realize that their interests are mutual, to so plan the sale of their products so they may get a better price and thus realize a greater profit from their operations, have been quite successful. This committee of the fund has worked unceasingly and untiringly for the uplift and betterment of all the farmers in every part of Oregon, in so far as a few months' operations could accomplish these things. Many worthwhile organizations have been formed for the better grading and better marketing of our most important fruit crops.

The Land Settlement Committee has organized the counties throughout Oregon whereby committees have been formed to whom prospective settlers can be sent with a prospect of acquiring land upon which they can make a living, and securing it upon reasonable terms. In other words in a few months the whole of the state has been prepared for the reception of newcomers and a public opinion has been created in favor of helping new settlers to come among them and to be made to feel that they were not coming amongst strangers, but amongst those who would help and assist them in their problems. Visits have been paid to various parts of the state and valuable information obtained at first hand and settlers—as a result of this initial year's work—have been placed in many districts.

Frank Branch Riley has delivered over one hundred lectures before some of the best audiences in the United States, in exclusive clubs, before commercial organizations, luncheon clubs, transportation officers, ad clubs, newspaper and magazine writers, and has carried the Lure of Oregon to these leading and influential citizens in a manner that no other man in the United States is probably so well qualified to do. His lectures have been successful and have created a profound impression everywhere.

The Publicity Department has carried on a nation-wide advertising campaign based principally upon an appeal to tourists. And why should this appeal be carried to tourists more than anyone else? Chiefly because in this way it is possible to reach almost every man in America. There are only a certain percentage of farmers, of business men, bankers and manufacturers, but all of these classes are embraced in the tourist, because everyone usually includes in his budget an item for a vacation. All those people have reserved for them a vacation period and the railroads make special rates for their vacations, therefore, in carrying out the instructions of the trustees the publicity committee in appealing to tourists have appealed to all the people of the United States.

WOOD

Moreover the change in transportation that has taken place during the past 20 years—for there was hardly an automobile 20 years ago—and the vast progress and improvement which has been made in the construction and maintenance of highways has created a new order of things, and made it possible for a great majority of people to enjoy a vacation at minimum of expense.

The railroad companies in their great advertising propaganda have most attractively brought the attention of the traveling public to Oregon and the Pacific Northwest and shown the pleasure and attractiveness of reaching this country by rail. Therefore, every class of people and every class of traveler has been reached this year by the advertising of Oregon.

In appealing for vacationists it has been realized that there are thousands of people who utilize their vacations for the purpose of seeking out a new location either for a home, for business, for manufacturing enterprise, or an settler upon the land and it is estimated that at least 40 per cent of the people who travel by motor are of this class.

Therefore, the appeal to the vacationist is double-barreled. It brings the ready cash for the money invested in the advertising campaign and is the beginning—but only the beginning—for everything cannot be accomplished in a few months of bringing into the state a high class new citizenship. There is a vast increase in tourist travel and it is estimated that 25,000,000.00 will be left in Oregon this year.

In various forms or other nearly 18,000 inquiries have been made to the Portland Chamber of Commerce as a result of this advertising. A proof that the plan adopted by the trustees of this fund, in this quartet of activities, has been almost a perfect plan, is that all the departments have worked together in unison for the benefit of the state. The publicity department supplies all the other departments with its inquiries for them to deal with because they are best fitted through their intimate knowledge of the subjects inquired about.

The committees have worked jointly on these propositions, each with the idea of spending the money allotted to it for the best advantage of its own particular department, but all for the good of the state at large.

It is permissible to remind the various cities and communities of the state that these funds are not derived from taxation to be spent in the interest of the state but are public subscriptions and donations from the business men of Portland, and yet they are being spent as fairly and equitably as is almost possible for the state, just as much as if they had been raised by taxation.

The members of the Board of Trustees are of the best known leading citizens of Portland, who have directed the policy under which the money should be spent, but who have left it to the various committees to supervise the details. All these men on all the committees have worked unselfishly and given an enormous amount of time to try and make this campaign a success.

The names of the trustees are: A. L. Mills, chairman, Emery Olmstead, J. C. Ainsworth, Guy W. Talbot, Max S. Hirsch, Isaac D. Hunt, O. W. Mielke, Franklin T. Griffith, Roy T. Bishop and Frank E. Andrews. The following are the chairmen of the special committees of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, to which the various sums have been appropriated who have given an enormous amount of thought and time and trouble to the discharge of their duties: E. E. Faville, Marketing, Whitney L. Boise, Land Settlement, Guy V. Talbot, Riley Lectures, and J. P. Jaeger, Publicity.

Rome was not built in a day. No Board of Trustees is perfect, nor can any committee carry on its activities to the satisfaction of everybody. Results, however, for the first year in every department are sufficient to show what may be accomplished. The trustees have given the greatest deliberation to the problems that came before them. The committee have endeavored to discharge their duties for the best interests of all the state and they hope to the satisfaction of all the subscribers. The problems and policy for the coming year are now being discussed carefully, thoroughly and frankly, with the object of adding to the success of the past year, to take advantage of the results so far obtained, and in a manner that will create enthusiasm amongst all the members of the various committees so that in the end it shall be demonstrated that a public fund has been spent wisely, usefully, with benefit to the subscribers.

VERNONIA EAGLE

RUNNING WILD

Gene Stratton-Porter, in a recent article in McCall's Magazine, states "the world never has known such a cocksure batch of youngsters as inhabit it today." These cocksure nations naturally have added unnecessary expense to the household inhabitants, which brings out another statement from the author, when she says "Father is kept busy earning the enormous sum with which to pay the bills."

Porter goes on to say, in this regard, "Imagining if the records of the frontiersmen of the country were searched, it would be found that one half of the men who have committed felonies were good men, who wanted the money for their wives and daughters," in other words these men were driven to the penitentiary by women folks who are modern day fieldlarks, and as William Allen White, the great Kansas Editor stated, "who were also eleven to sixteen years old mothers."

The added expense of modernity naturally forces the breadwinner of the family to search harder to make ends meet and in many cases other than honest methods are being resorted to, meet the expenses of the air-dresser and the fineries that must be had to doll the 20-to 50 year old feminine army up, so they resemble 14 to 16 year old kids.

The cocksureness of the present day youngsters quoted Porter again has caused them to sneer and scoff at our old fashioned notions about conduct, dress, amusements, religion and education, branding them wrong from the beginning.

This condition, which we have allowed to creep in and become the adopted custom of our young folks, she goes on to say, "proves rather conclusively by an elaborate series of prearranged tests that the children of the present hour have very hazy notions concerning religion that a large majority of them are not honest in money transactions; that they cheat in school examinations; that they have a small sense of the property rights of others; that their ideas of right and wrong are often as strangely inverted as was the idea that any parent would punish a child for telling the truth."

"The modern theory that children must be reared by love; that they must be allowed to follow their own natural trend, and for the greater part their personal inclinations, is evolving a race of children that have not the physical and mental stamina that their fathers and mothers had before them."

When the extravagances and superficial whims of modern day boys and girls is driving good men and fathers to the penitentiaries for every to keep up with the latest fad, for those who care, to open the brakes, even if it does keep some from enjoying as the say, "large social opportunities, than they have ever had before."

When we notice 10 year old women walking along the street dressed in the garb of 11 year old children, it is hard to make this old fashioned writer believe that these modern dolls have any deeper mental capacity than an 11 year old child.

When mother is dishonest with the world, which she supply is when she endeavors to hide her real age with kid clothes, how can she expect her offspring to be honest in their conduct before society? When father misrepresents his income to fool the tax collector, how can he expect his boy to be honest in his dealing with those with whom he comes in contact?

When father or mother makes light of the prohibition law, or endeavor to outwit the traffic officer, by speeding when the motor cap is not near, how can they expect the children whom God Almighty has trusted in their care, to be law abiding and true?

As long as the parents of this land set back to the real standards of right and wrong, and use "a square foot" along with "love" in raising and disciplining their children, just that soon and no sooner, will the future generations be safe, which in turn will make secure the foundation of America.

As long as false pretenses, and false theories are used in the rearing of children, just that long will the nation be in danger.—Southern Oregonian Spokesman.

OREGON BUSINESS

Direct From Headquarters

It is the human element that counts in the building of industry. You can talk until the end of time, you can argue year in and year out, you can give credit to availabilities of raw products, nearness to market, labor supply or exceptional living conditions, but "the man" is the real factor in successful manufacturing.

BARTHELMES, BACK IN MODERN PICTURE, ONCE MORE TRIUMPHS

Popular Star of the Silent Drama Is Admirably Cast in "Twenty-One"

Richard Barthelmess, returning to the screen in a modern story after demonstrating his versatile talents in two period-costume dramas, adds another triumph to his collection of cinematic successes with "Twenty-One," which shows at the Majestic Sunday, July 28.

"Twenty-One" is a delightful story of the present-day, being an adaptation of the novel, "Wild Apples," written by Grace McGowan Cook and Alice McGowan. Never was Barthelmess better cast than he is in this production as Julian McCullough, 19 year old youth who rebels at his mother's social ambitions and her misguided efforts to make a mollycoddle of him and finds pleasure in the company of a little factory girl, Lynne Willis.

Julian and Lynne find themselves in disgrace when, owing to the breakdown of the car in which they are riding home from a dance, they are forced to spend the night at a country inn. Discovery of gifts of silk stockings, dancing slippers and other bits of wearing apparel that Julian had made to Lynne only serves to strengthen the evidence against them.

But when Lynne's father demands that Julian marry the girl and Julian shows an eager readiness to do so, then the real trouble begins. Julian's wealthy parents object.

To get away from their influence, he leaves for New York, it being his determination to keep in hiding until he is of age so that he may wed the girl without danger of annulment of the marriage. In the city he finds work as a taxi driver—and plenty of romance and adventure. There is a powerful denouement when Julian outwits the plot of a gang of automobile thieves to rob his father and for his trouble the boy is stabbed, but this wound serves to bring a most happy culmination to the story.

The photoplay, well directed and enacted, is crammed full of action and suspense, and there are many interesting as well as colorful situations, including a Czech-Slovakian dance with the dancers in their pictureque native costume. It affords the picturegoing public some of the best entertainment that has been offered this season.

PITY THE POOR RICH FOLKS.

Why sigh for a million dollars? for the privilege of eating food you haven't earned—or having another's hands wash the children's face, another's thoughts direct their growing minds and a stranger garner the guileless confidences that belong to you alone!

Would you lose the thrill of pride that comes when rows of newly made jelly burn with rainbow colors to the sun on the window sill? Would you avoid the work and the planning for the home that has been entrusted to you? Would you escape the fatigue of body and mind with its assurance of a sound night's sleep? In short, would you hire a substitute to live your life and do your work and—it can't be otherwise—reap the rewards that should be yours?

It isn't what you get but what you give—the part of yourself that you put into life that'll smile back at you. It's the load you lifted, the task you completed, the obstacles you overcame, the hearts you gladdened by word or deed that give the purpose and meaning to life and stored with golden memories that accomplish along—oh!—bring—Woman's World.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By E. R. Waite, Secretary Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

That business doesn't happen in nowadays. It has to be brought in?

That advertising draws the people that have the cash and come often?

That advertising truthfully builds up prestige and good will?

That advertising gains new business for those who deserve it?

That the right kind of advertising insures the present and future success of a business?

That nothing can take the place of advertising. Its service means everything to every business?

That some heads of business concerns spend more time killing time than they spend hustling for business?

Most of the time-killers are waiting for business to happen their way, they should not wait for it to happen, but they should get busy and advertise and make it happen.

The state irrigation securities commission has certified refunding bonds for $31,000 for the Payette-Oregon Slope Irrigation district. Bonds for $60,000 issued by the Crook County Municipal Improvement district No. 1 also were certified by the board.

A comprehensive program to further the welfare of the agricultural, horticultural and livestock interests of Oregon was adopted at a conference of bankers and others at Eugene under the auspices of the agricultural commission of the American Bankers Association.

The Cascade Electric company has asked the federal power commission for a permit for a comprehensive power project on the Salmon river and its tributaries in Clackamas county.

The plans show that many miles of tunnels and canals will be required in the development.

A conference of governors and heads of penal institutions of California, Washington and Oregon will be held in Salem September 4 and 5 to consider the installation and maintenance of institutional industries, in line with a plan proposed by the national committee on prison and prison labor.

Permits issued to the Oregon Trail stage and Baars & Goldiron, both operating passenger and freight automobile lines between LaGrande and Joseph, were canceled by the public service commission. It was said that the stage lines had failed to comply with the laws regulating highway traffic.

Promotion of the interests of Davis and Bryan, democratic candidates, for president and vice-president at the general election in November, is the purpose of two organizations that filed articles of incorporation in the state corporation department at Salem. Both clubs will have headquarters in Portland.

There were two fatalities in Oregon due to industrial accidents in the week ending July 17, according to the state industrial accident commission. The victims were W. H. Pittman, Nobata, choker sooter, and Frank N. Nugen, Peoria, killed while driving a log raft. A total of 570 accidents was reported.

Mandamus proceedings to compel the secretary of state to certify to names on the initiative petition providing for the abolition of the public service commission and place the measure on the ballot at the general election to be held in November, were filed in the circuit court at Salem. The hearing is set for July 19.

The construction of the proposed Baker irrigation project is in step toward realization, as the bureau of reclamation is making a final investigation before recommending that the work start.

George C. Kreuzer of Denver, recently appointed director of farm economics of the reclamation bureau is now going over the proposed project.

The state irrigation securities commission has set August 6 as the date for hearing the land settlement committee of the Portland chamber of commerce with relation to the development of the North Unit Irrigation district in Jefferson county. The conference will be held in Salem.

The district contains approximately 100,000 acres of land, and it is estimated it will cost $8,000,000.

Members of the desert land board expressed a willingness to vote for the proposal of the city of Bend to trade waters of the Deschutes river for an equal amount of water from the Tumalo creek, which is desired for municipal purposes. The city of Bend has filed application for the appropriation of 11 second feet of water from the Tumalo creek, which at present supplies irrigation for the Tumalo irrigation district.

"Arrest all motor vehicle drivers who in any way violate the speed regulations and prosecute them to the limit of the law," was the substance of an order issued at Salem by T. A. Rafferty, chief inspector for the state motor vehicle department.

Copies of the order were sent to all officers operating under the state traffic bureau. Special reference was made in the order to The Dalles-California highway, Old Oregon Trail section of the Columbia river highway, Salem-Tillamook highway, lower Columbia river highway, and all macadam roads open for motor vehicle traffic.

The first census of Oregon, which has been tucked away in the archives of the state for more than three-quarters of a century, has been found by Jefferson Myers, state treasurer.

The census was found during a search by treasury department officials for information dealing with the early history of the state.

The volume was compiled by Joseph Meek, at one time United States marshal and a relative of President Polk, in 1845. This was about two years after the organization of the provisional government of Oregon at Champoeg. The census showed a population of 2110 persons, of whom number 1259 were classified as males and 851 as females. The old volume is hand-made.

It is proposed to pipe the water from Clear Lake to use in Willamette Valley cities and towns.

A Weekly Panorama of Events in the National Capital By Peter Keegan put by the supporters of Senator LaFollette that if leaders like Wheeler and Dill are ready and willing to subordinate their party to the Democratic candidate make it plain that there is nothing reactionary about his views and that he is a progressive from the ground up.

THE ROCK CREEK ROAD

If less than a two mile strip of the other end of the road near Kelsey was in good shape one could have an open road to that industrial center all year. At the camp reached by this route will be probably a thousand men or more. Many of them own cars and a stage line is ready to operate. This road is the most important now for Vernonia and should be fixed.

TO START IT GOING

How's this. The new Crown Department Store, during its opening week will sell ten quart galvanized pails full of washing soap for only 39 cents for both pail and soap.

WHY IT PAYS TO PRODUCE FOWLS OF QUALITY

It's the extra pound of flesh on the fowl that cheapens production costs and commands a premium price for the poultry man. According to the Burchuck Agricultural Foundation the extra pound can be put on for from 5 to 10 cents, which increases the value of each pound to the consumer by making the entire carcass more plump and attractive, so it commands a fancy price over lighter birds. Heavy hens sell from 5 to 11 cents more than light birds, so buy all down the line—turkeys, ducks, capons, hens and young fry—the extra pound brings the extra dollar.

Over a period of three years the New York market shows heavy fowls selling for being weighing 5 pounds or over to average from 4 to 11 cents per pound, higher per pound than the light fowls weighing 3 pounds. The five-year average for the month of September shows the heavy fowls to average 9 cents over the light weight, the margin broadening during October and November, reaching its height in December, when the heavy fowls range to 11 cents a pound over the light weights.

The average weight of the ordinary fowl as it comes from the farm is 3½ to 4 pounds. The poultryman with the eye for business will add an extra pound or so and realize the top price. The farmer who takes thin, underfleshed poultry to market is beating himself.

The Money Is There

But you, Mr. Merchant, must go after it if you are to get your share. The people of this community must live and to live they have to buy what you have to sell. If you were the only man in the world selling your line you might get by without advertising it, but you are not. This being true, it is equally true that people will go to the merchant who tells them about his merchandise, his prices and service, rather than to the merchant who has so little pride in his business that he seems afraid to advertise what he has for sale.

We can help you to advertise your merchandise in an effective, business-bringing manner. Let us show you how.

A DANGEROUS COMBINATION

The following article contains information of interest to every householder. It was written by Harry K. Rogers, engineer of the Western Accident Bureau;

It was in March, this year, that the Wichita fire department received a still-alarm from the Pacific hotel. The party putting in the alarm, stated he had been smelling smoke for some time, but was unable to locate its origin.

Rogers rode over with the chemical crew, and on entering the building, found the office and storeroom directly back of it filled with gas apparently coming from scorched varnish or paint. Thorough search was made of the lobby and also of the warerooms, stremen going over the walls and floors searching for a hot place.

Rogers finally discovered the source of the fire. It was a furniture polish cloth that had been wadded up by a negro porter, and stuck up on the ledge of a highly varnished partition.

On discovering it, Rogers called the firemen to see a positive case of spontaneous combustion.

When he attempted to pick up the rug they found the varnish underneath had burned enough to give off the gas. The woodwork was so hot, that it would have only been a few moments until it had flashed into flames.

The next morning the porter was told what he had done, but he, like many others, appreciated the theory to auto-ignition, and to satisfy himself, saturated a similar cloth with the same kind of polish, and left it on a window-sill and then awaited results.

The cloth burst into flame in just one hour and twenty-minutes. Needless to say, the negro was convinced, and immedately took the can of polish to the alley.

Some hot drivers are quite careless in the disposal of their polished rags. The above article points out the grave danger of leaving them lying around on woodwork, especially on a varnished surface. A serious fire may result.

It pays to make safety first our slogan in household matters, as well as other things.

Prospects Bright for Better Horses

COMPARISON OF THE NUMBER AND VALUE OF FARM HORSES

Both farm and city are demanding more and better horses, according to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation.

Despite the 16,281,293 automobiles and trucks in the United States, there are 18,268,000 head of horses and mules on farms today and 2,300,000 horses pulling loads in city streets. The coming of the auto and trucks reduced the equine workers in cities by 2,000,000 between 1910 and 1920, a reduction of 89 per cent. But during the last three years there has been a decided trend in the opposite direction.

Between 1910 and 1920 the horse population on farms decreased 10 per cent. On January 1, 1924, there was 18,033,000 horses, compared with 21,535,000 six years before. This was the smallest number since 1906. Still, 97 per cent of all field work is done by horses and mules.

Around 1910, under the influence of stimulated war production and replacement by mechanical power, horse prices began to decline. By January of this year average values per head were the lowest since 1903. Mule prices, unlike horses, advanced during the war, reaching their peak in 1920. In 1923 there was a third more horses and mules sold than during the previous year.

Good mares and stallions are scarce. During the war horse breeding languished. The number of colts produced failed to keep pace with the losses by death. Between 1910 and 1920 horse and mule colts combined decreased 22 per cent. The largest percentage of the horse population is old.

Low prices will continue to discourage horse and mule production and cause still further decrease in the population until the average price turns upward. Unless breeding operations are increased, demand will soon be greater than the supply. How soon the market turning point will be reached for the rank and file of horses is uncertain. Prices have already improved for the better than medium grades. The constantly increasing demand along with the limited supply is indicative that the turning point is not far off.

newspaper. I venture to say that if the money spent each year for fancy calendars and other knick-nack give-aways were invested—I say invested, not donated—in carefully planned newspaper advertising, the actual net returns to the advertiser would be ten times as great to say nothing of the advantage the town would receive through the small-town paper's ability to become strong or through added revenue. For we know that as a business builder the home town paper is without equal."

C. R. Coyle and wife and children were in Portland Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Petersen went down to Portland Sunday.

J. B. Richmond is visiting in the south part of the state.

Isaac Jay, who has been very sick for the past month, is reported a little improved at this writing.

Geo. Miller was out from Portland last Saturday and Mr. McDonald of the Miller Merc. Co. returned to the city with him, remaining over Sunday and Monday.

Read the announcements of your merchants in this issue. Many a dollar has been saved by a careful perusal of a merchant's ad. When a business man advertises for your patronage he not only has a line of goods that "speaks" but there may be some desire and that it may be advantageous to buy at this time.

Put more heart-interest into your advertising and you will get more business out of it.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR RHEUMATISM

Chiropractors locate and adjust the cause of rheumatism by using Chiropractic Adjustments, with the bare hands alone. The cause will be found in the pressure on nerves, through the vertebrae (small bones of the spine) being subluxated (displaced). Their ples and cakes are as good as their bread. In fact hundreds of people declare that the Vernonia product is not equaled by any bakery they have ever patronized in the past. The Vernonia bakery is increasing their output every day, and the bread and pastry is more in demand as the community grows. Chiropractor, the formation of uric acid is eliminated and the pain in the different parts of the body disappears. Vernonians with the product at home consultation and spinal analysis free, far superior to so many makes? The Vernonia bakery is a fine home institution.

Dr. W. Boyd Whyte
Hoffman Building

Nearly everyone of us are figuring on having a fine time just ahead when we get all fixed, and this vision is just ahead of us when we fall asleep. To live in the now and enjoy the present is the work of a philosopher.

If you live in Vernonia or Columbia County we want you to receive each week the Vernonia Eagle. Won't you send or hand in your name? $2.00 per year.

Don't forget the Eagle office for any kind of printing.

Next week we expect to see dirt piled along ditches for the new Vernonia Sewer system. All plans have been worked out and the bids advertised for the contract. Before fall rains begin the city will have the sewer system installed and the town will be thankful. There was no unnecessary delay, but the legal part of the big job takes time and the Council rushed the job as fast as possible with using all caution. It pays to be careful and be sure one is right on a job of this size. Now we hope that the paving of Bridge street can be accomplished before Christmas, as we know of no better Christmas present for the city to make itself.

You Talk Library—Vernonia is large enough, and now is the time to arrange for a public library for our city. A good library is needed, but as anything we can think of right now. The next big thing is to get the habit of patronizing the library. Good reading is needed and makes better people. Let's have a library.

Miss Ruby Jeckle has returned to her home in Rainier.

Harvey Dempsey made a business trip to Portland over the week-end.

A tour to the coast was made over the week-end. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson of Hillsboro, Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Coyle of Sherdon, Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Coyle of St. Paul, Oregon, Mrs. Lester of St. Paul, Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Coyle of Vernonia. Everybody reported of having a fine time.

Buster Ryers left for his home in Comely, Washington, where he will visit for a few weeks with his mother.

Mrs. Sarah Spencer and granddaughter, Miss Throop are spending a few days visiting friend in Manning.

Miss Dorothy Fryendall spent the week-end at her home in Manning.

Vernonia is growing and Vernonia has some good industries, among which the Vernonia Bakery is receiving much praise. "Mothers hands alone" the bread is really "Mothers Bread". And their pies and cakes are as good as their bread. In fact hundreds of people declare that the Vernonia product is not equaled by any bakery they have ever patronized in the past. The Vernonia bakery is increasing their output every day, and the bread and pastry is more in demand as the community grows. Chiropractor, the formation of uric acid is eliminated and the pain in the different parts of the body disappears. Vernonians with the product at home consultation and spinal analysis free, far superior to so many makes? The Vernonia bakery is a fine home institution.

have him give you one good reason? If course not. And you never will. For the man who patronizes a mail order house does so with the consciousness that he is doing the wrong thing. I have talked with hundreds of people about this one question and I have never heard any real reason for supporting the mail order house. I have heard hundreds of excuses. But every person I have talked to excuses his act because somebody else did something wrong. They have told me that merchants charged too high prices. They have told me that the merchant did not carry what they wanted. They have told me that it was less trouble to order by mail. Any person who will take the time to talk this over with mail order patrons will find them ready-to-excuse their acts but never ready to champion the cause of the mail order house. People who patronize mail order houses find it necessary to apologize for their acts. They know, inherently, that it is poor business policy. They know that the principle is wrong. They know that community welfare cannot be promoted in that way.

But like any other bad habit, they pursue it because it requires an effort to break it.

Two wrongs do not make a right. When a quarrel starts it is easy to stop. When it gets under way it may be impossible to stop it before someone gets hurt.

A few years ago the liquor habit came under the ban. People began to break it. They thought it was smart to do so. Their neighbors wrinkled at the violation and admired the violators. But a few of them died from wool alcohol poisoning. Others went blind from the same cause. Morality began to suffer. People noticed it and began to think and today sentiment is setting in for the enforcement of the law. This sentiment has not arisen from the prohibition forces but from all classes alike who saw the menace to the nation and demanded its removal.

Community after community has passed through the same process with the mail order habit. They have considered it a matter of personal liberty until its effects came home to them and then they have worked together for its elimination.

It's easier to form a good habit than it is to break a bad one. It's
